Q No.2 Read the passage below and answer the questions that follow:

[10 Marks]

Flood is a kind of natural disaster, which harms or even kills people and animals. Flood can also damage houses, factories and public places, etc. There are some efforts to minimize flood. First, we must not cut down trees in the forests illegally because it can cause many disasters for human beings; one of which is flood. Flood occurs because the rain water can not be absorbed by the root of plants, so the water flows directly to the ground. Second, we should plant any kinds of trees in our houses, in the barren area or in the sides of the roads, so the water can be absorbed easily by the roots of the plants. Besides, with this way we get many advantages such as to decrease air pollution and to support 'Go Green Programme' for Global Warming and Climate Change on our earth. The last is that we must not throw away the rubbish anywhere such as in the river and ditch. By carrying out such simple efforts, we can minimize the disasters and participate in the preservation of our environment.
